DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election without traverse of invention II (claims 7-18) in the reply filed on 2/19/2008 is acknowledged.

Claims 1-6, 16-17 and 19-37 are cancelled. Claims 38-52 are new. Claims 7-15, 18 and 38-52 are pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 7-15, 18, 38-52 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Morrill, Jr. (US 5991749) in view of Lawlor et al (US 5220501).

Re claims 7-15, 18, 38-52: Morrill teaches a method comprising: providing access to a first webbank (account), said first webbank comprising a website hosted on a server for the use of a first webbank owner (account owner), wherein said first webbank has a webaddress (account number) associated therewith and is accessible by the said first webbank owner over the World Wide Web using said webaddress (col. 11, lines 40-47); and, wherein said first webbank owner has access to said first webbank to provide said first webbank with a second webaddress (destination account number), the second webaddress being a webaddress associated with a second webbank; wherein said second webaddress is the address of a website for a second webbank owner and also acts as an account number, such that said second webaddress acts as an addressable destination over the Interact for transfers of funds thereto (col. 11, lines 55-63); and wherein said provision of said second webaddress at said first webbank is used to cause funds to be transferred from said first webbank to said second webbank (col. 11, lines 63-66) (claims 7, 38, 46 and 51); wherein said second webaddress is public webaddress listed in a public directory for any third party to use to send funds over the internet to said second webbank (col. 11, lines 59-60: recipient's phone number) (claims 10, 42-45 and 52).

Morrill does not explicitly teach a website hosted on a bank server (claim 1); wherein said first webbank and said second webbank are both hosted on the bank server of the same bank (claims 8, 39 and 40); wherein said first webbank and said second webbank are both hosted on the bank server of the different banks (claims 9 and 41); wherein said funds are transferred virtually instantaneously (claims 11 and 47); wherein said funds are transferred within five minutes (claim 12); wherein said funds are transferred within an hour (claim 13); wherein said funds are transferred between the first webbank and the second webbank at the time designated by said first webbank owner (claims 14 and 48); wherein said funds are transferred between the first webbank and the second webbank at the time designated by the said second webbank owner (claims 15 and 49); wherein said first webbank owner provides said second webaddress at said first webbank to view transaction records at said second webbank (claims 18 and 50).

However, Morrill teaches a website hosted on a server. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Morrill's server (provider CPU) to be that of a bank server since their functionalities are basically the same (i.e. providing access to users).

Lawlor, in the same field of art, teaches the concept of having the source account and destination account in the either the same bank or different banks (col. 50, lines 52-55) (claims 8-9 and 39-41); wherein funds can be transferred immediately (col. 50, line 45) (claims 11 and 47); wherein fund can be transferred at the time designated by the user (col. 50, lines 64 through col. 51, lines 18) (claims 12-15 and 48-49); wherein said first webbank owner provides said second webaddress at said first webbank to view transaction records at said second webbank (col. 15, lines 30-41; col. 34, lines 26-28) (claims 18 and 50). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Morrill to include the teachings of Lawlor for the obvious reason of allowing users to schedule fund transfer transaction at designated time (flexibility), thereby enhancing the functionality of the process.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Schrader et al (US 5903881) teaches a personal online banking with integrated online statement and checkbook user interface (Figs 1-17, col. 45, lines 22 through col. 16, lines 39).

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
